AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
AND
ARCH DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

The University of Chicago (the "University") and ARCH Development Corporation ("ARCH") enter into this agreement as of July 1, 2001.

In 1985 the University arranged for the incorporation of ARCH as an Illinois not-for-profit corporation to perform technology transfer services for the University and Argonne National Laboratory ("Argonne"). On July 1, 1987, the University and ARCH entered into an agreement to carry out this purpose. Since then ARCH successfully engaged in the business of technology transfer for the University and Argonne. It issued numerous licenses of technology, applied for patents on inventions, copyrighted software and other works, assisted in the start-up of corporations and performed other activities in furtherance of its mission. The University has now established an office within the University called UCTECH to manage technology transfer and to take over the responsibility for such activity from ARCH. The parties enter into this agreement to arrange for a smooth transition of the conduct of technology transfer from ARCH to the University.

Accordingly, the parties agree as follows:

1. The existing patents and other intellectual property owned by ARCH will continue to be held in the name of ARCH until further action of the parties. By written notice, the University may direct ARCH to assign to transfer to it any invention, patent application, patent or other intellectual property owned by ARCH, and, in such event, the parties will cooperate in issuing and executing the necessary documents to effect such assignment or transfer.
2. The University, acting through UCTECH, will carry out all licensing and other actions required for the transfer of technology, either in the name of the University or of ARCH. Persons dealing with the University may be assured that it has full authority to act in the name of ARCH. This means the University may license or assign patents or other intellectual property owned by ARCH, or cause such actions to take place.
3. ARCH hereby designates the University to act as its agent in all dealings respecting its inventions, patents, patent applications, software, copyrighted materials and other intellectual property, licenses, contracts and other business dealings with any and all persons and governmental authorities.
4. The Agreement of July 1, 1987 is terminated as of July 1, 2001.

5. This agreement may be amended by written agreement of the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have signed this agreement as of the date first set forth above.
